Protective Training Courses by the Executive Protection Institute

The Executive Protection Institute offers intensive training programs for those who want to be among the best and most professional Personal Protection Specialists in the world.

So You Want To Be a Personal Protection Specialist (P.P.S.) Jan 10th

Overview: This is an informative one-day program designed to introduce men and women to the new professional career field of personal protection. Presentations will review philosophy, doctrine, methodology, mechanics, guidelines, movements, dimensions, and checklists for the protection of executives, officials, celebrities, politicians, religious and world leaders. It is an opportunity to be involved in the presentations and participate in a training exercise as an example of what this career is really about.

Course Content: Who Is Qualified? Where Is The Work? When To Start? What Assignments Can I Expect? Why Consider This Career? How Much Money Can I Earn?

Topics Covered Include: Countermeasures, Protective Measures, Traits Required, Responsibilities, Advance Work, Preventive Strategies, Threat Assessment, Choreography, Risk Management, and more.

Operations: This program is for those who are curious or have an interest in the field of providing personal protection. For individuals involved in other security careers, law enforcement, military, business, law, teaching, computers, sales, service industry and students; those who are considering another career or planning their retirement job. An opportunity to learn the difference between "bodyguard" work and professional personal protection from those who wrote the classic textbooks (Providing Executive Protection & Providing Executive Protection Vol. II) on the subject and have operated the Executive Protection Institute since 1978.

The Executive Protection Institute is the first school to consider Personal Protection as a new professional career and continues to teach worldwide.

Tuition: 1 Day - $190.00 Location: IPSA Training Room, Suite 1570, New Yorker Ramada Hotel, 9a-5p

Managing Security Systems: Jan 11th and 12th

Overview: This is a non-technical program on the management of operations, applications, assessments and surveys of contemporary security systems. Participants will learn to upgrade existing systems or design of original protective measures for buildings, offices, residences and open space. The program covers facility control evaluations and equipment standards review with an emphasis on management skills for physical security systems.

This program offers a detailed, step-by-step approach to the planning, design and management of facility protection systems. It will enable you to evaluate your present system or be totally knowledgeable to offer consulting and security proposals for effective physical security installations. Each participant will have an opportunity to work with state-of-the-art security systems.

Tuition: 2 Days - $390.00 Location: IPSA Training Room, Suite 1570, New Yorker Ramada Hotel, 9a-5p
